La notation de crédit

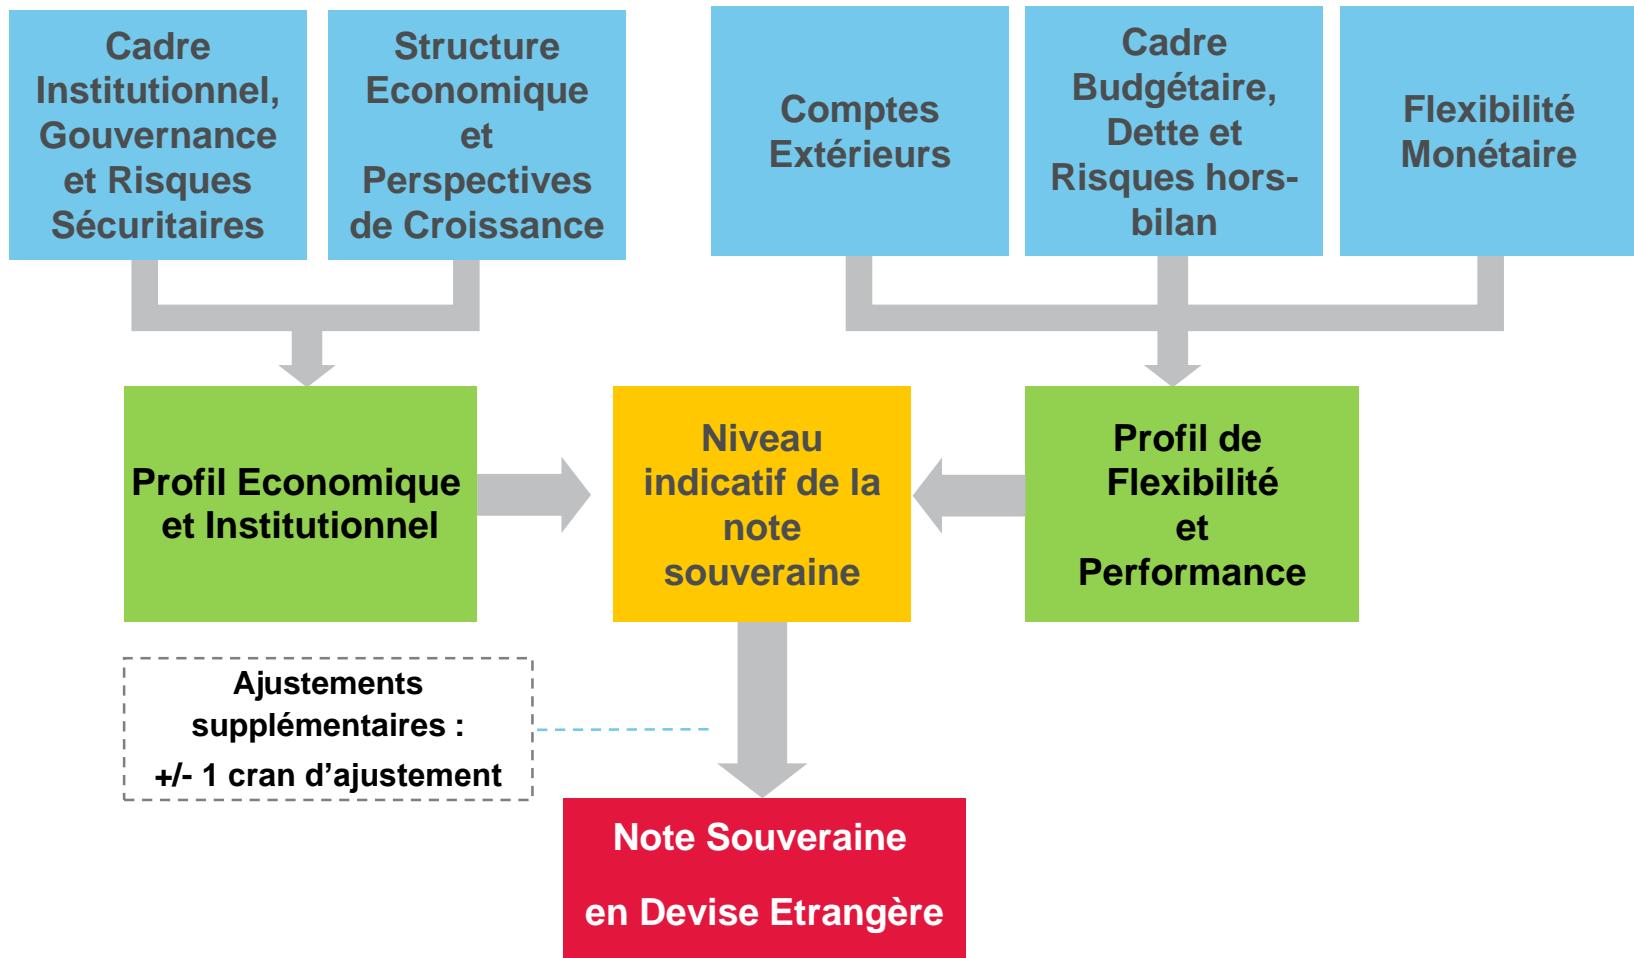

EST

- Les notes de crédit sont des opinions prospectives sur le risque crédit. Les notes S&P expriment notre opinion sur la capacité et sur la volonté d'un émetteur de rembourser intégralement ses dettes financières à l'échéance et dans les conditions prévues.
- Une note concerne exclusivement le risque de crédit et non d'autres risques liés à un investissement financier, comme le prix de marché ou la liquidité.
- C'est l'un des outils, parmi d'autres, à disposition des investisseurs. Elle fournit aux investisseurs et autres acteurs du marché une information sur le risque relatif de non-remboursement
- Vise à être comparable à travers le monde et les secteurs d'activité

N'EST PAS

- La note n'est pas un audit, ni un exercice de vérification comptable ; nous nous appuyons sur des informations publiques ainsi que sur les informations fournies par les émetteurs.
- La note n'est pas une garantie de remboursement, ni une quantification absolue de la probabilité de remboursement.
- Elle n'est pas un conseil d'investissement, ni une recommandation d'investir ou non dans un instrument financier
- Elle ne formule pas de jugement de valeur sur les "bons" et les "mauvais" émetteurs
